Hotaling Named As Production Head

Alton S. Hotaling, Jr. has been named Production Manager for WENH, New Hampshire's educational television station.

Hotaling has been producer-director of KUON, educational television station in Lincoln, Nebraska where he was particularly concerned with in-school telecasting and film productions.

On commenting on Hotaling's appointment, Station Manager Keith Nighbert said, "Experience as an announcer as well as extensive activity in production and presentation of many different kinds of programming make Mr. Hotaling very well suited for his present position — that of making Channel 11 programming smooth, professional, and enjoyable."

Mr. Hotaling and his wife, Beverly, a former Lincoln, Nebraska public school teacher, will make their home in Durham.

Junior Prom, "Top Hat And Tux" Features Bob Batchelder's Orchestra

Queen To Be Elected

By Toby Sprague

New Hampshire Hall will be the setting for this year's Junior Prom, "Top Hat And Tux." The date set for the Prom is May 8th at 9:00 p.m.

Bob Batchelder's fourteen piece band will provide the music. Carmen Atkins, who attended the University and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, will be the vocalist. Bob's band may be heard regularly at the Totem Pole Ballroom.

Elect Queen

The highlight of the evening will be the selection of a Queen to reign over the Ball. At 9:30 the Spotlight Dance will take place in which the candidates for the queen will participate. After this, voting for the Queen will take place, and at 11:30 Pete Hollister, class President, will announce the winner. All of the candidates for the Queen will have to attend the Ball because of the voting procedure.

This year's guests of honor will be Governor Powell, President Johnson, Vice-President Eddy, Dean McKeane, and Dean Gardiner.

Semi-Formal Attire

The dress for the Ball will be semi-formal attire which includes: formals for the girls and either tux, dinner jackets, or suits for the guys.

The dance is open not only to University students but to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the Union, Bookstore and The Wildcat.

IFC Songfest Vie For Awards NH Hall Tonight

Tonight the hallowed walls of New Hampshire Hall will resound with harmony as the annual IFC Songfest gets under way at 8 o'clock.

Three fraternities and five sororities will be vying for trophies in their respective divisions. Each unit will sing two numbers. A panel of three music instructors will then decide which group has done the best all around job and the best fraternity and sorority will each be awarded a cup.

Prof. Karl Bratton, head of the department of music at the university will be joined by Donald Wendlandt, director of the Dartmouth College Band, and Lewis Niven, Head of the Department of Music at the University of Maine.

The Master of Ceremonies, unnamed at presstime, will be from Senior Key. This year the Songfest was originally scheduled to be held in the fall, but a conflict with the department of music, caused IFC to postpone the original November date to the spring.

Dress Casual

Therefore, although this is primarily an IFC function, Senior Key is co-sponsoring it along with Pan-Hellenic Council. This became effective when Stunt Night, originally scheduled to be held this weekend, was cancelled.

Dress is casual as usual, with the men wearing dark trousers, dark shoes, and white shirts, and the women will be attired in either light colored sweaters and dark skirts, or light colored blouses and dark skirts.

Lambda Chi Alpha will sing Halls of Ivy, and Seventy-Six Trombones; Theta Chi will do Big Rock Candy Mountain, and Aura Lee.

Alpha Chi Omega will sing Green Sleeves, and All in the Golden Afternoon. The Galway Piper, will be rendered by Phi Mu, along with Every Night When the Sun Goes Down. Alpha Xi Delta will do Bushel and a Peck, and Madame Jeannette.

Chi Omega will sing I Know Where I'm Going, and Happy Talk. Theta Upsilon plans to do Deep River, and The Children's Marching Song.

Judging will be based on appearance, diction, balance, phrasing, intonation, blending of voices, stage presence, presentation, timing, originality, and appropriateness of selection.

Admission is 50 cents.

Stan Flower Starts Campus Humor And Literary Magazine

By Dick Weston

Anyone who has visited the Memorial Union recently must have noticed the extensive publicity campaign carried on in behalf of a new campus literary and humor magazine. While we understand there used to be such a magazine on this campus, this is a totally new idea to our generation of students, and one we have heard spoken of as badly needed.

The New Hampshire has tried to carry on the functions of a literary outlet, but the space it can devote is necessarily limited by its main functions — to purvey news. Student writers and artists have had no medium devoted solely to presenting their original work. The new magazine is the brainchild of Stan Flower, a freshman who had two years' experience as a Navy journalist. He found no magazine of this type when he came here, and seeing the need, decided to start one.

He started to talk the idea around and received enthusiastic response from both students and faculty. He found a willing faculty advisor in Mr. Thomas Williams, a successful writer on his own right, who shares with Prof. Carroll Towle the position of factotum of our student writers by virtue of teaching English 25-26.

Thirty volunteers appeared at an open meeting three weeks ago and the magazine's organization is now nearly completed. Its constitution has been submitted to the Student Senate for approval, and all it needs now to become a going concern is material.

Three Departments

It will have three departments; literary, art, and humor. The editors are now looking for contributions — lots of them — in these three categories. The receptionist at the Memorial Union will receive these contributions and place them in a locked box which the editors have left at her desk.

What are they looking for? Literally anything — poetry, essays, stories, sketches, drawings, jokes, cartoons, even undeveloped ideas. All material submitted will be judged solely on the criterion of quality and good taste. There are no other restrictions. Plans call for the magazine to have twenty-five pages and appear six times a year, so it will have a healthy appetite for new material.

All contributions must include their (Continued on page 8)

Features New Hampshire Royal Events In Animal Exhibition

By ANDY JACKSON

Visitors from all over the state were on hand Saturday at Putnam Hall for the Sixth Annual All-Aggie Day.

The program began at the somewhat typical hour of 8:30 a.m. with the New Hampshire Royal. In all the Royal events, improvement and appearance of the animal as well as training and showmanship were the basis for awards, rather than type or ancestry of the animal.

Judges appointed for the day were Professor Lou Baker, of the University of Massachusetts, and James Clapp, a graduate of University of Massachusetts.

Douglas Benson took first place in the Beef Class, with Conrad Terkelsen second and James Hight, third.

First place in the Dairy Class was awarded to Peter Messer. Edward Morris came in second and Larry Horbelt took third place.

Top points in the Horse Class went to Philip Nurse, with Carol Syvertsen, second and Lianne MacWilliams, third.

Intermission Exhibits

An intermission between judging events was then held so that the visitors could inspect the various club exhibits. The Botany Club was given first place by a panel of judges for its spring rock garden, obviously representing a great deal of time and effort. Another interesting exhibit was a scale model and drawing of a "mechanical tobacco harvester," designed and constructed by Kenneth Rich and exhibited by the Agricultural Engineering Club.

The N. H. Royal resumed with the Sheep Class. Mary Rutter, John Thomas, and Lianne MacWilliams received 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place respectively.

George Buzzel took first in the Colt Class, Janet Balch was second, and Philip Nurse took third.

The blue ribbon in the Swine Class went to Robert Frizzell. Conrad Terkelsen was second and Douglas Benson third.

This concluded the morning activities. A chicken barbecue held under the auspices of the College of Agriculture could aspire to be nothing less than perfection. And perfection, according to the fortunate visitors, it was.

The well-fed audience filed back into Putnam Pavilion for the afternoon program, including the Parade of Breeds and the Premier Showman Class.

To qualify for the Premier Showman class a contestant must have received first place honors in one of the preceding six categories. The contestant was then required to show one animal from each class in the Premier Showman event. The exception to this was in the Dairy Class, where both 1st and 2nd place winners were allowed to enter the final competition.

Premier Showman

Edward Morris walked off with the coveted prize of Premier Showman of the day, and Peter Messer was named Reserve Premier Showman. Both of the above are Dairy Majors in TSA.

All-Aggie Day is planned and carried out entirely by students. Special credit should go to Ring Master Cathie Oliver, and to the Master of Ceremonies, James Van Alstine.

Chairman of the Aggie-Day Committee was Floyd Timson, and Royal Chairman was Douglas Benson.

Those in charge of the other committees were: Joan Wheeler, program; Richard Rhoades, Malcolm Zwolinski, Floyd Timson, advertising; Edward Vinski, barbecue; Dean Eggert, Conrad Terkelsen, publicity; Liane MacWilliams, judges; William Martin, Rodney Hagggett, prizes; John Newton, exhibits.

Club presidents responsible for the exhibits were: John Newton, Agricultural Engineers; Edward Vinski, Alpha Zeta; Roger Rutter, Animal Industry Club; Beyoung Kwack, Botany Club; Malcolm Zwolinski, Forestry and Wildlife Club; William Zeller, 4-H Club; Willard Dodge, Future Farmers of America; Joan Prishy, Home Economics Club; George Greene, Horticultural Club; Otis Lane, Poultry Club.

University Flying Club Offers Flight Training To Students

By ANNE SKUGGEVIK

There is little question that we live in an air-conscious age. We've graduated from the old maxim that, "only crazy people and birds fly", and have gone in for air travel in a big way. Contrary to popular opinion, however, flying is not restricted to the military and commercial air lines. In fact, a pilot's license is within the reach of every student at this university.

One flight is all that is needed to be convinced that flying would indeed be an interesting hobby. The strange feeling of suspension; seeing UNH spread out like a pasteboard exhibit from 1500 feet; viewing the upper back of a seagull in flight; the immense panorama of the New Hampshire countryside meeting the ocean at Hampton; all these experiences are in store for the person who enters the world of flight.

The UNH Flying Club was incorporated specifically to offer supervised flight training to all interested students. The club owns a J3 Piper "Cub" which is maintained by Federal Aviation Agency Licensed personnel, and is hangared at Hampton Airport. The "Cub" cruises at 70 mph and gets approximately 19 miles per gallon of aviation fuel. Prospective pilots must undergo carefully supervised training in navigation, map reading, and aircraft mechanics as well as actual training in flight. After completing the required 15 hours dual, and 25 hours of solo flight, the student must pass a written examination in flight theory, navigation, and regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. As with automobile licenses, a pilot must pass a "driving test" given by a CAA examiner. Having fulfilled all these requirements, the student is in possession of a private pilot's license.

In addition to providing flight training, the club engages in cross-country trips, and holds contests such as spot landing contests with other aviation clubs in the vicinity.

Students interested in adopting flying as a hobby will have a further chance to investigate the possibilities at the May 7 regular meeting of the club to be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Carroll Belknap Room of the Memorial Union. The members have prepared a genuine, all-color "talkie" demonstrating some of the more scatterbrained aspects of flying. At great expense they have secured the services of Barney Stormer, famous movie star. See you there?

Joseph B. Dodge, Famous Mountaineer Speaks To Club

Tuesday, May 5, the Outing Club will sponsor a lecture by Joseph B. Dodge, the infamous "Mayor of Porky Gulch". Joe recently retired as the manager of the Appalachian Mountain Club hut system, for the development of which he was responsible. He was also instrumental in developing the Mt. Washington weather observatory, which has now operated for almost thirty years.

Joe Dodge is notorious throughout the mountains for his boisterous character, his tall tales, and for his liberal use of colorful words. Joe has lived in and around the mountains all his life and is one of the few mountain men to have become famed as an extrovert rather than a hermit. His style of humor is one that you will never forget once you have heard it.

Don't forget the date, Tuesday, May 5, at 8:30 p.m. in the Merrimac Room of the Memorial Union.

Air Force Cadets Receive Their Regular Commissions

The cadets who have been offered the regular commissions are: Linwood N. Furlington, Jr., George T. Mauro, Albert H. Jones, Jr., Allan C. Sawyer, Gerard J. Arseneault, and Donald D. L'Esperance.

Campus Spotlight

By MARTHA HIGGON

The University's "First Lady", Mrs. Eldon Johnson, is an attractive, small, brunette, with a pleasing and receptive manner.

Mrs. Johnson was born in Indiana, went to high school there, and attended Indiana State where she majored in home economics. After graduating from high school, she worked for two years for the superintendent of schools in Martinsville. This is where she first met Mr. Johnson when he was on his first teaching job in Martinsville.

Mrs. Johnson then went to college and completed her work in three years by going winters and summers. Mr. Johnson and she went together for five years before they were married.

After graduating from college, she was married and taught clothing for two years in high school at Martinsville. While Mr. Johnson was studying for his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin.

When he completed his course of study they moved to Washington, D. C. where Mr. Johnson was appointed Director of the Graduate School in the Department of Agriculture. While in Washington, their two daughters, Judith and Suzanne were born.

Judy is now a sophomore at the University of Maine. She plans to be an elementary school teacher.

Sue is a junior at Oyster River High School. She has no definite plans for the future. Recently she has visited the University of Vermont, Middlebury, Colby (in Maine), and Pembroke but has not decided as yet where she wants to go.

From Washington, the Johnsons went to the University of Oregon where they lived for ten years. In 1951, they spent seven months in Europe seeing Great Britain, Scotland, Ireland, Italy, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and the Scandinavian countries.

Move to Durham

Four years ago, the Johnson family came to Durham. The President's house was completely redecorated for them, with Mrs. Johnson as her own interior decorator.

Mrs. Johnson's primary interests are interior decorating and antiques. She enjoys reading, especially autobiographies and biographies. She loves all sports with hockey and basketball as her favorites.

The President's wife enjoys all the entertaining which goes with her position. She likes seeing the students and faculty members and meeting the distinguished people who visit the campus.

She has been impressed by the university students body and their interest in intellectual functions as shown by that attendance at the convocations and distinguished lecturers series.

Finds Durham Pleasant

Mrs. Johnson enjoys living in Durham and thinks the University is ideally located, as it is near the coast, the mountains, and Boston, and still maintains a small town environment.

Mrs. Johnson belongs to the League of Women Voters. She was president of it when they lived in Eugene, Oregon, and has been active in Durham. She is a member of the Women's Club, the A.A.U.W. the Tuesday Afternoon Club, and the Guild at the Community Church.

Tudor Singers Plan Spring Activities

The thirteen voice Tudor Singers of the University's Department of Music have been actively engaged during these spring months.

On April 18 the group went to Burlington, Vermont, to participate in the Inter-collegiate Choral Festival sponsored by Trinity College. Twelve colleges from New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Canada were represented. The Tudor Singers were well received in their performance of madrigals by di Lasso, Gibbons, Bennett and Paul Hindemith, as well as a seven part motet by Gabrieli.

On May 3 the Tudor Singers will present a concert on the campus of Farmington State Teachers College at Farmington, Maine. In addition to traditional madrigals, the featured works will be the Buxtehude cantata, "Jesu, Meine Freude" and the "Serenade to Music" by the late Ralph Vaughan Williams. Soloists from the group will be heard in both works.

The only concert on the UNH campus by the Tudor Singers will be May 27 at 8:00 p.m. in Murkland Auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend.

A lady's wrist watch was lost last Monday somewhere between N. H. Hall and Murkland. It had a black wrist band and a gold and silver casing around the watch. If found, it should be returned to Glynn Griffiths, North Congreve.

TV Audience Prefers Weather Reports To Art

WENH, Channel 11, in Durham has received answers to about half of the first 5,000 program surveys sent out around the state recently.

In a list of categories of adult programs first place preferences votes went to weather reports, meal planning, know your schools, classical music, old masters of art, American history, stocks and bonds, book reviews, religions of man, the national congress, public speaking, and travel films. The station has also listed second and third preferences for adult programs.

For pre-school children the most popular choice was for a kindergarten of the air. In the primary school age group, story hours took precedence; and for the intermediate age, cub and boy scout projects were favored. Good citizenship was the most popular program for older children.

The surveys were distributed to women's clubs, service clubs, parent-teacher groups, granges, schools, teachers, and to 25 town meetings. Additional surveys will go to other farm groups, labor organizations, and to Navy and Air Force installations. Individuals may request surveys from Channel 11 in Durham.

GERALD A. PARSONS received his B.A. in 1950 and his M.B.A. one year later, both from Cornell University. He joined General Electric in 1954 and is presently Specialist-Marketing Administration in the company's Large Steam Turbine-Generator Department.

"The biggest challenge a man has to face is himself"

"Men and businesses are alike in one respect," says Gerald A. Parsons, 30-year-old marketing and personnel development specialist. "Their success depends to a great extent on how well they respond to challenge. And I've found that the biggest challenge a man has to face on his job is not the competition of others — but the far more important one of developing himself to his fullest capabilities."

"During my four years with General Electric, I've had plenty of opportunity for self-development. Challenging training assignments at five different locations within the company have given me a broader understanding of my career area. In my present job I have the benefit of working with experts, both in establishing long-range goals and in helping to achieve them. Young men such as Gerry Parsons are important to the future of companies like General Electric and to the growth of America's dynamic, competitive-enterprise economy. Our nation's progress will depend more and more upon those forward-looking individuals who continue to develop to their fullest capabilities during their lifetime.

That is why General Electric provides a climate for individual progress — with opportunity for increasing knowledge and skills — for all of its employees, including 30,000 college graduates. For it is only as individuals meet the challenge of self-development that there continues to be progress for a business, an industry, or a nation.

Less Responsibility?

The administration at this University seems to have taken another step in the direction of good, sound, businesslike efficiency. As a result, none of the disturbing symptoms usually connected with the outbreak of Spring Registration will be in evidence next week. We will see no long waiting lines near the registration offices; side-walks will be free of students wandering up and down in quest of signatures. All this has been swept away by the new registration procedure. Instead there will be a list of appointments in each adviser's notebook and a bulge in the mailman's bag of campus mail.

What has happened? Is someone trying to make things as comfortable as possible for the poor, overworked student? Or is it, as some have insinuated since the plan was announced, that this is just another trick to take away some of his responsibility? Yes, these critics say, it's all very well to say things will be easier, but we won't be able to pick our instructors any more. It says in the registration plan: "Do not fill in section or hours". Unless we give a good reason for requesting a special schedule, someone else will decide for us what hours we will be attending classes.

But these objections don't really hold water. As for choosing our instructors, we can still do so in single-section courses. Only the multiple-section courses present a problem. And even here, we can answer that it wasn't any better under the old plan. The departments are never certain at the time of registration which professor will be teaching a certain section in September.

And if the "critics" are not satisfied with this statement, we have another little proposal. Even if it were possible for students to choose their instructors in multiple-section courses, this would not necessarily be the ideal thing. Why? Simply because these are introductory courses, for the most part. The students signing up are probably not acquainted with the department. The little they know is on hearsay. What kind of a criterion will they have to choose by?

We think petitions and heated discussions regarding the new registration plan are premature. Let's give it a try at any rate. If a large proportion of the students are dissatisfied with the way it works out, the Registrar has said he will make changes. And it isn't as though we were experimenting. The universities of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine and other states have used this time-saving, decentralized plan for years.

Student At Work

Most of us have become familiar with the work of several professional artists this year, due to an excellent series of exhibits in the Library. Unfortunately, this is not the case with regard to the work of some talented art majors on this campus.

Last month, the drawings and prints of a junior art major were on exhibit in Hewitt Hall. This was the first show of the kind, unbelievable as it may sound. And we are disturbed by the fact that this unique exhibit was confined to a narrow, second-floor corridor in Hewitt, where very few students, except those studying art, could have a chance to see it.

We do not claim to be expert judges of art, but after a brief examination, we think that Donald Labranche's graceful experiments with lines compare quite favorably with some of the professional work shown at the Library this year. We do not doubt that there are many other talented students in the art department who could muster up enough drawings for a one-man show of their own. So why not set aside some spot in our spacious Library for just this purpose?

It is true that the annual student exhibit of art work will be set up at the Library this month. But this is no substitute for a series of showings, each of which would give us a complete sampling of the techniques of some talented art student.

A Winning Streak

The University's debating team has just ended one of its most successful seasons in years. Two weeks ago it won an international College Tournament in Massachusetts, and last week-end, when we talked with Coach Margie Williamson, it had won nineteen out of the last twenty-three debates. This is all the more remarkable if we consider that this University has no speech department. Most of the team members are novices in the art of rhetoric; they must compete with varsity team members of other colleges who have a great deal more training.

Still, this struggling young team is doing credit to the University. We naturally wonder why it is only now coming into its own. The reason is simple: what we have on campus is a branch of Tau Kappa Alpha, the national debating society. It is a permanent part of the University, not just a student club. The University hires a coach to train the team, but until recently, no coach ever stayed on for very long. Now that the team has finally been put into gear, we can perhaps look forward to an increasing membership in the society and more support from the students.

This support will be needed no later than next week. TKA is sponsoring an inter-house debate on May 7, dealing with a humorous topic. What is needed is a good turnout of students to make the affair lively.

Finnegan Denies Preferring Roads To Faculty Aid

Dear Mr. Weston:

Knowing of the editors' keen interest in accurate news reporting, I wonder if you would mind making one correction in your Page One story of March 26 ("William Loeb Speaks to University Students").

In the second paragraph of the second column you state that I admitted that I "considered the proposed road-building program of more benefit to the state," etc. If you will recall, I made no comparison — nor is any warranted — between the need for Governor Powell's highway program and the need for faculty pay raises at UNH.

What I did say, I believe, is that we should not "turn up our noses at the importance of road building," and then followed with the quote you cited — "it would benefit education indirectly by improving the state's industrial potential."

Unintentional Error Perhaps

This may not seem important to you, and I am sure it was an unintentional error, inspired perhaps by the wording of the student's question, but it has been the editorial position of the UNION LEADER that faculty pay raises are indeed warranted and no doubt will be forthcoming when the state has the money. What we have deplored is the means employed by the university to state its case.

It was a pleasure to appear before such a large turnout of students, and I too hope that the next time we will have time "for discussion or rebuttal of the positions (we) took." We did have some opportunity along that line when smaller groups gathered on stage after the main bout.

Sincerely,

From The Observation Post

"Dear Mr. Finnegan"

By DICK WESTON

I was walking around the campus last week, trying to think of a subject for this column, when Dave Snow, our genial Editor-in-Chief, waylaid me on the library steps.

"Hey Weston," he said, "why don't you come around to the office once in a while? All we ever see of you is your story sliding under the door."

I tried to tell him that I have to send my three-year-old daughter up to the office with my stories because my wife is insanely jealous of all the beautiful girls there (they have them in movie newspaper offices, so why can't we?) and she has to slide them under the door because she can't reach the door-nob yet, but I don't think he was even listening, because he went right on talking.

"We've got a letter for you from the Manchester Union. It's been there three weeks now. Why don't you come and get it?"

For me, from the Manchester Union? A contract to join the editorial staff? An invitation to get out of the state? It turned out not to be so dramatic as that. It was, in fact, the letter from Mr. Finnegan which you will find elsewhere on this page. I think it is worthy of further attention, and with your patience, I will devote the rest of this column to an answer.

Dear Mr. Finnegan;

"I most sincerely regret having misinterpreted your remarks. In fact, no one can be gladder than I to learn that you did not say what I thought you said, for the attitude I reported you as expressing was an extraordinarily benighted one. It must have been the context in which you spoke, because I, and several other students who were present, received the impression that you said exactly what I reported in regard to roads and faculty salaries. For this reason The New Hampshire is doubly glad to print your letter, to clear up this misconception.

"I fear I have plainly revealed my amateur standing by falling into such a misinterpretation, but as an amateur who is seriously interested in learning more about the practical aspects of journalism, I should like to ask you a question.

Editorial Style

"Why don't you write your editorials in the same clear and concise style you used in your letter. I found your statement of the Union Leader's editorial position in the letter much easier to understand and believe than when it is couched in its usual tone of didactic hysteria on the editorial page.

"Nowhere have I ever seen the Union Leader's policy on faculty salaries stated before in a fashion in which I could even make sense of it. If your editorial style has this effect on one not-overly-bright college student, mightn't it have the same effect on others?"

"As I have said, I am only an amateur with little understanding of such matters. So I would really appreciate knowing the real reason for your editorial style. If they followed the same reasonable and clear method as your letter, I might not disagree with the Union Leader's positions any less, but I would at least have a great deal more respect for them, and there is much room within me for that.

Sincerely,
"R. E. WESTON

"P. S. We would really look forward to you and Mr. Loeb appearing here again in a situation which allows both sides to argue their positions. Hope such an opportunity arises soon."

Unearthly Visitor Upsets Household In Light Comedy

Rehearsals are now in progress for Mask and Dagger's final production of the year, "Visit to a Small Planet", to be presented May 14, 15, and 16.

The play is a light comedy centered around Kreton, the out-of-space visitor to the planet Earth, played by Charles Copenhaver. Kreton has the remarkable ability of being able to "hear" what the people around him are thinking, which creates a number of amusing situations in the Spelding household, the home in which Mr. Kreton accidentally finds himself visiting.

Dramatis Personae

The head of the Spelding family is Roger Spelding, a TV commentator played by Jim Cooke. Mrs. Spelding, the housewife who is very concerned with the space ship landing in her rose garden and where and how she is going to put up her increasing number of guests, is played by Martha Jacobsen. Ellen, the Spelding's only child is played by Maggie Nevers and Conrad, Ellen's boyfriend, is played by Dick Merk.

The Army is also represented in the play, in the person of General Tom Powers, who has been given the special duty of finding out all he can about Kreton and making sure no one else finds out about him except the proper authorities and of course the Speldings. General Powers is played by Bob McGirr.

Cat Has Role

Among the other members of the cast are General Powers' aide, played by Paul Kotseos, Delton 4, played by Bob Crotty, and two television men, played by Bruce Dexter and Paul Nadeau. Another important character which must not be forgotten is Rosemary, the cat, who strikes up a lovely friendship with Kreton and even offers to catch a mouse for him to eat.

dition of the American young people, the students on the UNH campus don't seem to be too worried about it.

After sitting around in classes and studying all week, I should think that a little hiking or canoeing or climbing would seem like fun. With the beauty of New Hampshire in the springtime, I should think that a few of you students would like to get out and enjoy it.

Many people feel that they wouldn't enjoy an Outing Club trip because it is a "clique". This is probably true, but I have always found that just about any group or organization is a clique and the only thing that can be done is to join it.

I would really like to see more people on our future trips and more people showing an interest in Outing Club. If any of you would like any information about NHOC, I wish you would call me at AGR or drop in at the Outing Club Offices Friday afternoons between 2:00 and 5:00. I would be glad to receive any criticisms.

Lecture on Mountains

Coming up May 5, the Outing Club will sponsor a lecture by Joe Dodge, the famous authority on the White Mountains. Last year, Joe retired as hut master of all the Appalachian Mountain Club Huts in the White Mountains and supervisor of the Mount Washington experimental station, positions which he has held for over 30 years. His lecture topic will be "What the White Mountains Mean to the Students of UNH". Don't forget that date, Tuesday, May 5th at 8:30 p.m. in the Strafford Room of the Memorial Union.

Letters To The Editor

Memorial Field In Bad Shape

The Department of Physical Education for Women is seriously concerned with the wear and tear on our one and only field resulting from the unauthorized use of Memorial Field after six o'clock in the evening by groups of men from the dormitories and fraternities.

We are thoroughly in sympathy with your need for a field for recreation on these nice spring evenings; and if we had sufficient space ourselves, we would be delighted to have you use the field for just that purpose.

However, this is our problem: The only field we have is Memorial Field. It is used all day to conduct from one to three different classes. It is used from 4-6 and after 6:30 until dark for our entire intramural, intercollegiate, recreational and extension programs. In addition, the ROTC drills and parades also are using the field. Varsity lacrosse has also used it. The field might possibly survive this treatment if we had the summer to fertilize, reseed and care for it. But this field on campus is the only one used all summer by summer school classes and special events.

Deteriorates Yearly

As a result, the condition of Memorial Field has gradually deteriorated over the years. It is already in poor shape for golf and especially for field hockey which needs smooth turf for the rolling ball. We would therefore like to request that the men on campus cooperate with us and use the field house or other areas for

Students Called Week-End Loafers

Two weeks ago there was an article in The New Hampshire which struck out against those people who have turned UNH into a five-day college. This week I would like to blast those that stay on campus; and do nothing. The Outing Club had three trips last weekend; one skiing and hiking to Tuckerman's Ravine, one canoeing, and one rock climbing to Stonehouse Pond. Two of these trips were cancelled due to lack of interest, and the third one had about ten participating.

I would like to say now that none of these trips required any previous experience. If any were needed, it would have been stated on the posters and the sign-up sheets.

Recent Trip Cancelled

I was to lead one of the trips that was cancelled. I was around all day Sunday and I took a few observations. I saw students doing nothing but riding around in cars or lying on the grass or watching the baseball game on TV. For all the talk around about the poor physical condition of the field some rest, all the activities conducted on the field as well as our classes will suffer.

We realize this is not a perfect solution and we sincerely regret having to take this step. We hope that in the best interests of all students you will help us "Keep Memorial Field Green."

Projected Mural For Post-Office Creates Stir

By LEE RENTE

It is the hope of the Women's Club of Durham that the historical mural, for which they have secured the artist and are securing the funds, will be complete and in place on the south wall of the Durham Post Office, ready for dedication when the new Durham Federal Building on the corner of Main Street and Madbury Road is dedicated in June.

As spokesman for the Women's Club Mrs. Charlotte Chase stated that the ladies were most excited over having the project approved by Washington officials and having the opportunity of donating the first pictorial representation of Durham's town history to be permanently displayed in a local public building.

Sixteen Historic Views

The work will be comprised of sixteen scenes, historic moments or important events in Durham's past from the early sixteen hundreds to early nineteen hundreds, at the point of Ben Thompson's arrival. The mural, painted in oils on canvas by Bernard Chapman of Lebanon, N. H., will cover forty-four square feet. The painter was selected by a committee from the Women's Club after interviews with numerous artists, including UNH faculty members. Mr. Chapman was chosen because he was best able to meet the requirements of the committee—would paint the mural as they wanted it.

He is formerly of Groveton, N. H., has had experience as a commercial artist in Boston and as a backdrop painter for models in the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. He has executed murals for the Mascoma Savings Bank and the Jones and Lamson Tool Co., both in Lebanon, and the Nuggett Theatre in Hanover.

Mr. Chapman graduated from UNH in 1930. During his years of study, mechanical drawing comprised an important part of his curriculum. His expansion into the fine arts has been done on his own. One of his canvases, a snow scene, is hung in the main reading room of the campus library, and he has formerly shown in the Carpenter Gallery and the State Libraries at Concord and Nashua, as well as here on campus (a number of years ago).

Sponsored By Women's Club

The idea of a mural was first discussed by the historical society and later taken over as a "community achievement project" (of the type common to various groups within the National Women's Club Federation) by the Durham Chapter. The Club, consisting of about 130 members, will furnish the total cost of $3,000 from their own treasury and mural fund projects, e.g. a dessert bridge party, opportunity sale and strawberry festival.

The project has not been met without criticism. In an open letter to the Durham Residential Advertiser (DRA) on February 26, G. H. Daggett criticized the method by which the painter was chosen, encouraging an open hearing in so far as the building is public and the mural is under the control of a limited committee of the Women's Club.

His appeal was answered the following week, March 5, in the DRA by Mrs. Helen Funkhouser, a non-member of the Women's Club, who stated that she understood that the mural plans "are exactly what we want" and that there is no reason for them to be "hashed over by all the sundry" . . . unless those hashing it are willing to contribute to the $3,000 cost.

The March 12 issue of the DRA contained a poem by Harold Schultz satirizing the situation.

In the words of Mrs. Chase, publicity chairman for the project, "No work of art ever pleased everybody, but this is not an attempt to please everybody, but show Durham history, plain and simple."

It will be left to post office users to judge whether or not the project is even art.

Looking Around

So Much Ado

By DICK SHEA

After a week of absence, during which I received a vain, if nebulous, satisfaction from being asked why I didn't look around last week, this funny shaped peg of the university of New Hampshire returns, rested but still mentally inadequate.

There was a letter on this page last week. I read it. Twice. Now, I don't know anything about funny-shaped pegs or odd-shaped holes, but I figure I know about that subject as I knew about what made a good professor and what made a bad professor when I first entered this institution a year and a half ago. In fact, I'm not so sure I've learned anything about choosing a good instructor, if my marks are any indication.

Relax

It did my heart good to see Gene Sidore get so excited over his little metaphor last week. Rarely, if ever, will the apathetic student body, get as excited over anything as this crusader did, and this alone gives his letter merit. Of course, the proposed change in registration procedure leaves much to be desired, but relax a little.

Don't get excited. You'll live longer. At least there is an attempt being made to change the stifling mess that is commonly known as spring registration.

Everyone who has been here when pre-registration takes place, knows what an uninspiring thing it is for one to stand in line day after day, getting shot-down time after time, finally finding himself standing, sweaty and quite frazzled, with a finger worn schedule clutched in his grubby fingers adorned with red, blue, black and various smudges thereof. This is just plain no fun.

Elementary

Had Sidore mentioned something constructive to offset this admittedly inadequate plan, I might not have written a column again this week. But all that is completely apparent from reading his effort is that funny-shaped pegs and round-shaped holes do not go together. This is nice to know. I learned it in the first grade, however.

Mr. Sidore states that we are not here to serve the administration, and that, in fact, the latter is here to serve us. This is very puzzling since that is just what Mr. Schaefer has done. He has saved us considerable effort and inconvenience, in proposing a system that takes a great load off the individual.

Mr. Sidore's bellowing appears to me to be simply so much ado about nothing. Constructive bellowing, I could tolerate, especially on this particular subject, however.

Student Senate Report

By JOHN MARR

At the first Senate meeting on Monday evening, Dr. Schaefer, the University Registrar, explained the new registration system to the thirty-seven Senators present.

The objectives of the new system are elimination of extensive lines, balancing of class sections and lowering the number of drops and adds. The new system allows the student only the choice of his courses of study. He is unable to choose the sections or the class times.

If possible, the Registrar will reserve free time for employment upon request by the student. Trial registration will be made out in May by the student. In mid-summer, the Registrar will arrange the class schedule and return the necessary forms for completion to the student. The latter must then mail back the completed forms before classes begin.

It was announced that the Senate banquet is scheduled for Monday, May 11. The Executive Council is to decide upon the meal — keeping the price between $2.00 and $2.50 a plate.

Senate officer elections were held. The following senators were appointed to office: Claire Karpinski, Vice Presi-

Letter To The Editor

New Senators Bypass Rules

On Monday, April 27, the Student Senate Constitution was made a travesty of. An amendment to the Constitution was presented to be voted upon. The presentation of this amendment was illegal. It was presented at a special meeting rather than a regular meeting as stipulated by the Constitution itself. If this were to be considered a regular meeting it would have to be a postponement of the last meeting, but this meeting can only be canceled, according to the Constitution.

Opposition to the amendment was not even recognized when it sought recognition. The subsequent acception of the movement of the question was illegal with a member seeking recognition on the floor. So the new Senate allowed itself to be stampeded by the bureaucrats in the executive positions, a very bad omen.

dent; Gay Brooks, Secretary; Victor Chrystowski, Treasurer; Karol Karr, Corresponding Secretary; and Ed Benson, Carl Von Ledgie and Sue Thayer to the Executive Council.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Civil Service Asks For Job Applicants

The United States Civil Service announces that there is an urgent need for highly qualified applicants in the following fields: electronic science, metallurgy, and physics, for salaries ranging from $4,490 to $11,595 a year; in engineering, from $4,490 to $12,770. The types of engineers needed are aeronautical, electrical, chemical, electronic, mechanical, general and industrial.

The positions to be filled are located at Huntsville, Alabama, with the Redstone Arsenal, which serves as headquarters for the Army Ordnance Missile Command, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, and the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

This organization is concerned with research, development, and industrial activities of rocket, missile, and satellite programs, plus the support of missile systems in the field.

Applicants must have had appropriate education or experience or a combination of the two. Applications will be accepted by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, until further notice.

Detailed information about these positions is contained in Announcement No. 5-35-7(59) which may be obtained at the above address, at many post offices throughout the country, or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

It's what's up front that counts

You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as  $\pi$ . (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reasoning backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or of bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for filter smoking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. ## Scenes from the Sidelines

Varsity Nine Has Potential

By DOUG BROWN

The University of New Hampshire has potential power in every spring sport.

The baseball team of coach Hank Swasey has given notice to all of the Yankee Conference teams that it is not a team to be taken lightly, and this is a fact that will continue in the future.

Hank has a team that will win considerably more games than last year. Heading his list of possible stars are holdovers, Hugh Marshall and Ron Demijohn. Both of these ballplayers have batting records at UNH in the 300 bracket.

Others on the team who hope to improve last years 1-9 conference record are outfielders Ed Vinski and Joe Manzi. Vinski has already given notice that he is going to be a very powerful hitter. In his first three games he has collected 2 doubles and a similar number of triples. Manzi, although not as strong a slugger, has demonstrated an ability to get on base, using any number of methods, and especially capitalizing on his short stature to draw walks from the opposing pitchers.

The infield looks strong defensively, especially on the right side where Bud Hadley and Paul Marshall demonstrate some polished fielding. At the hot corner, Demijohn, covers skillfully. Sammy Paul does not appear to be as relaxed in the field as his fellow infielders.

The battery is extremely capable, even though it lacks experience in college competition. Behind the plate Paul Bellavance aptly directs his pitchers. On the mound the combination of Sonny Soule and Roy Guptill are as good as any one-two pitching combo in the conference. Soule has given evidence of his ability in games with Bates and UMass. He held Bates to one run and four hits for seven innings, and UMass to six runs, only four of which were earned, and nine hits. Guptill finished the Bates games facing six men and striking out four. On the next day he faced a very powerful UConn team and lost a heartrending 4-0 verdict. The Huskies entered the game with a record of seven wins and one loss in which their lowest production was in an 8-7 loss to North Carolina. Of the four runs allowed by Guptill only two were earned. At present he has an earned run average of 1.81 and eleven strikeouts in 77 innings.

Coach Swasey has a strong bench to work with when his regulars falter. Utility infielders include Danny Parr at third base, Rod Wotton at Shortstop, Joe Power at second and Fred Walker who can play any infield position. Behind the plate has Ben Turner and Don Burke. In the outfield he has Mikszenas, who has drawn pinch-hitting duties already.

Rifle Team Places Third In New England Contest

The Annual Air Force AFROTC Area Rifle Team Championship Awards for the New England-New York area have been announced with the University of New Hampshire Air Force Rifle Team placing third in a field of 18 colleges and universities. This is the highest position ever attained by an Air Force ROTC Rifle Team.

Colonel James H. Starbuck, PAS at the University, has congratulated the team on their excellent showing. The members of the team are: Paul G. Amazeen, Michael N. Perreault, William C. Royce, Russell A. Nylander, and Andrew White.

Golf Season Opens With Lowell Tech

Seven Granite State residents were chosen to tee off the 1959 golf season for the University of New Hampshire in a match with Lowell Tech on Tuesday.

Coach Carl Lundholm had named seven men to make the trip, but emphasized that, after he observes his team in competition, the same seven may not play in Friday's triangular match with UMass and Vermont.

Lundholm has three veterans from last year's Yankee Conference championship team and a number of candidates seeking to fill the four vacant spots on the squad.

UNH's veterans are Captain Steve Edstrom of Concord, Dick Howard of Nashua, and George Laflamme of Manchester.

Newcomers who make their first appearance on the fairways for the Wildcats are sophomores Bill Lockhead of Nashua and Peter Cook of Sunapee and Juniors Jim Greene of Dover and Paul Caswell of Rye.

Cats Trounce Bates; Lose Thrillers To UMass And UConn

The University of New Hampshire nine opened play on Tuesday defeating the Bates Bobcats by a score of 11 to 1 behind the four hit pitching of Sonny Soule and Roy Guptill. On Wednesday they faced the powerful UConn Huskies, succumbing to righthander John Risely by a 4 to 0 score.

On Saturday they journeyed to UMass to meet the Redmen. Soule dropped a heartbreaker to Jerry Glynn, 6-3.

Shellack Bates

The Wildcats combined nine hits and four Bates errors to hand the Bobcats an 11-1 loss.

Ed Soule started on the mound for the Cats and gained credit for his first varsity victory. In his seven inning stretch he allowed only one run on a total of four scattered hits.

Southpaw swinging Ed Vinski provided the power for the Cats with two doubles and a 400 ft. triple in five trips to bat. Paul Bellavance added help to the cause with two bingles and an RBI.

UConn Heartbreaker

Roy Guptill, picking up where he left off with two scoreless innings against the Bobcats, pitched a beautiful game against UConn but could not match the superb 2 hit performance of John Risely, who picked up his fourth victory of the year, facing just 28 UNH batters.

The only Wildcat hits were by Joe Manzi (in the bottom of the first), and Captain Ron Demijohn.

Too Much Glynn

UMass jumped off to an early 3-1 lead in the bottom of the first and then fought off the Wildcats to pick up the 6-3 win.

Hugh Marshall and Ed Vinski collected triples in the Cats' losing cause. Ron Demijohn, attempted to stretch a fifth inning double to left field into a triple, getting nabbed at the hot corner on a relayed strike from Ned Larkin to Bobo Roland.

Sonny Soule worked the entire nine innings on the mound permitting the Redmen only nine hits.

Entering the second week of competition, the Wildcats have a 1-2 record but can boast one of the best left-right pitching combinations in the league in Roy Guptill and Sonny Soule, both sophomores. With a little more clutch hitting the Cats could develop into one of the better editions in UNH history.

One can easily find out how many kangaroos there are in Australia by making a short trip to the new Library, or to Australia.

W R A Notes

Last Saturday, a group of interested girls from UNH went to a lacrosse play-day at Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass. The day consisted of instructional stick work in the morning and strategy. In the afternoon there were games against other schools.

Interclass lacrosse is tooting right along. The interclass games will be finished by next week and an All Star team will be chosen. To be eligible for all star recognition, a girl must participate in two out of three of the class games.

With the coming of daylight saving time, co-recreation softball will be starting soon. A girl may play for only one men's housing unit. Games will be held on the women's athletic field.

Interhouse ping pong started last week. This is the only way to win points for your house. A trophy goes to the house with the most points at the end of the year. This trophy is given at the annual WRA picnic. If you are interested as to where your house stands now, there is a chart of all interhouse activities posted in New Hampshire Hall.

Next Wednesday there will be election of new officers for next year. Ballots with names of the candidates for the WRA executive board will be passed out to all women's housing units by members of the present board. Please vote. Remember WRA governs all women's athletic activities on campus.

Frosh Drop Track Meet To Exeter Academy 105-12

The UNH freshman track team, (losers by a considerable margin to Springfield College freshman team in its first meet while winning half of the events) was unable to win more than one first against Exeter Academy in losing 105-12. Minus the services of Ron Randlett and Joe Aieta the Wildkittens were completely outclassed as the academy team swept six events and took the first two places in four others.

Charlie Beach scored half of the frosh points by winning the 100 yd. dash and placing 3rd in the Pole Vault.

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (Marlboro, incidentally, has the best tinfoil, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and put them together with the best tobaccos and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treachery sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Crayon de Mon Oncle ("The Kneecap"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meter reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherette bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrimps and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutzi-San (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he whimsically turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

Various Athletic Events

Also on Saturday afternoon parents may attend athletic events. The varsity tennis team will be competing against Rhode Island at 1:30 p.m. A varsity baseball game will be held at 2:00 p.m. with Massachusetts, and the varsity lacrosse team will oppose B.L.C. at 3:30 p.m.

Special exhibits on display for the parents are Student Work in the Arts, which will be exhibited in the Art Division of Hewitt Hall. A Student Organization exhibit will be held at the Memorial Union.

creators' names and addresses. (Names will be withheld at the insistence of the author.) The editors will get in touch with all contributors, either to inform them that their material has been accepted, or, if it hasn't been accepted, to explain the reason, and offer critical suggestions on improving it for future publication. The magazine is open to everyone, and nobody who contributes will be ignored.

Medium of Expression

It will exist solely as a medium through which students — and faculty — may express themselves in any way they wish, within, as has been mentioned, the bounds of good taste. The magazine itself will take no sides and grind no axes. They will accept controversy, even unvarnished attacks, if they are well written. But they intend to go to the person or organization attacked, and ask them to write a rebuttal to place alongside the attack in the same issue.

Art work must be done with pen and ink, and, for economic reasons, it should be line drawings. Any artist or cartoonist who would like to submit shaded work should check with the editors. If they think it has merit, they will gladly go the extra expense of a half-tone reproduction.

Deadline Important

The most important word for prospective contributors concerns the deadline. The first issue will appear during orientation week next fall. In order to provide enough time to set up this issue before finals this spring, its deadline is May 6. This, Stan stressed, is a must.

The staff hopes the magazine will be self-supporting. It will carry advertising, including a classified ad section. They intend to sell it mainly by subscription — $1.50 for the six issues — although single copies will be available. If they should make a profit, it will be used to create a bigger and better magazine.

Staff Members

Though the staff is nearly complete, anyone interested in helping out, either in the editorial or production end, will be welcomed. The magazine will be governed by a nine-man board, which at present still has a couple of openings. Its members are:

Stan Flower — Editor-in-Chief
Betty Lang — Editor
Patricia Smith and Dick Clark — Managers
Alice Miller — Treasurer
Dick Ross — Assistant Treasurer
Ellen Pirro — Literary Editor
Bill Lockwood — Humor Editor
Brad Beers — Sales Manager
Joan Salo — Secretary, is not an actual member of the board.

There are still vacancies in the positions of Art Editor and Production Manager.

But only one answer is apt and logical as decided by the judging staff, and therefore correct. Read the rules carefully. ENTER AS OFTEN AS YOU WISH. Good luck!
